Roth Quartet To Play Three Nights

By J. M. Freckleton

Ranking world-wide as the greatest of its kind, the Roth string quartet will provide one of the highlights of the summer school music season with three days of concert appearance here, Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday, June 21, 22, 23. Each concert will begin at 8:15 p. m., although the first in College Hall will begin at 7:30. Reservations are not definitely decided yet.

Summer school students will be admitted to the series without charge.

The Roth quartet is preeminent among chamber music groups of the world, and in its last Provo appearance, three years ago, under the auspices of the university lyceum committee, it received enthusiastic ovations from critics.

In the membership of the Roth quartet burns the musical fire of the Hungarian race, for each player is Hungarian born. Feró Roth, founder of the first violin, Jenő Ádám is second violin; Ferenc Molnár plays viola; and János Schols, is cellist. Each is considered a skillful artist on his instrument.

World has been received from the manager of the group that arrangements have been made for a series of programs with the Columbia University Chamber Music society in

Jewish Speaker Coming July 12

The present Jewish question referred to "Religious and World Progress" will be the subject of a lecture by Rabbi H. D. Wice of Omaha, Nebraska, who will appear here July 12. One of a series of lectures sponsored by the university during the summer, the Rev. Dr. Rabbi Wice will be open to all students of the summer term, according to Dr. A. C. Lambert, dean.

Rabbi Wice has been Rabbi in Omaha since 1933, received his A. B. and A. M. from Hebrew, Leland, Lee University, and his B.H.L. and rabbinical degrees from the Hebrew Union College in Cincinnati. He was Howard Heston Fellow in education at Hebrew and Lee university in 1927 and 1928.

Rabbi Wice is one of the more brilliant of the younger Rabbinate in having been born sometime in 1900. He has lectured in Minnesota, Ohio and Colorado, with astounding success, and we feel sure that Brigham Young university will be equally enthusiastic.

Broadbent Takes Michigan Fellowship

Thomas L. Broadbent, instructor in the German department left last week to accept a teaching fellowship for 1939-40 at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, Mich.

Mr. Broadbent will do preliminary work this summer towards a doctor's degree, and remain for the full term next year and for the following summer. He will be accompanied by his wife and two children.

New Building Plans Will Provide Seating Capacity For 2400 Students

The Y News extends an invitation for interested summer school students to join us.

Teachers-advisers of school publications in other districts could contribute much to lend interest and perhaps their contemplated magazine of summer school papers would appreciate this opportunity of becoming familiar with the plan.

In either case, please see the editor at 1:30 and 2:30 p. m. in the Y News office this afternoon, or when convenient.

Architect's plans for the new university chapel and religious education center were approved at a meeting of the board of trustees held June 7.

John L. Marks, of Provo was selected as architect by the board.

A building committee to supervise construction of the new chapel was appointed by the board. It includes Dr. A. C. Lambert, chairman; college of commerce; J. Wyly Sessions, professor of religious education and director of religious activities; Dr. C. C. Smith, associate professor of mechanical arts.

The building as approved provides for an auditorium with seating capacity for 1200 persons in the main floor of the hall, and 400 additional on the stage. Adjoining the main auditorium will be an amateur hall in which 500 more may be seated.

A reception room and lobby in the religious center will also be adapted to provide seating for 300 persons. In addition the building will contain 18 class rooms, 14 offices, and a party and banquet room.

Location of the new building will be on the upper campus to the east of the Heber J. Grant library and the George H. Brimhall building.

Construction of the chapel will be completed in time for the observance of the church welfare organization. It is expected that the construction will require approximately 15 months for completion.

With the announced theme of "Classifying Educational Purposes and Improving Educational Procedure," the 1939 Brigham Young university summer conference on Education, scheduled to begin June 13 and last through June 23, will bring outstanding men in the field to the campus for a week of discussions, panels, classes, lectures, reports and visits.

As a special feature of the week, the world-famed Roth quartet will give three evening performances on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. Dr. A. C. Lambert, dean of the summer school, is enthusiastic about the coming week.

"We have had an unusually favorable and interested response to the conference," said Dr. Lambert. "Over 50 leaders in education were invited to participate in the discussions, and all accepted. This indicates a keen interest in the conference, and with the outstanding men who are coming, a truly great educational meeting is looked for."

Dr. Ned H. Dearborn, dean of the division of general education, New York University, and Dr. C. F. Price, dean of the college of arts and sciences of Louisiana State university, will be the distinguished guests in the conference. Dr. Dearborn (Continued on page two)

Tour Pipe Plant Saturday Morning

Summer school students will have the opportunity to view the varied operations in the making of pipe when an official tour of the Pacific States Cast Iron Pipe Company is taken tomorrow morning. Harvey King, general manager of the pipe plant, will serve as guide to the party.

Last year more than 100 students took advantage of the trip and at least that many are expected this year. Students will be led from the door of the Education building at 8:30 a. m., Saturday, and the trip through the plant will begin at 9.

Children will not be allowed to go through the plant due to the danger of the speed of the machinery. Pounding of the molten metal will attract the most interest, it is anticipated by Mr. King.

Arrangements for the summer school trip are being conducted by Mr. Charles J. Hart, head of the department of physical education.

You Are Welcome

The Y News joins the faculty in bidding you welcome to the summer school where the summer's cool. Most of you have been students at Brigham Young university before and have learned to love the school and all it represents and stands for.

Others who are here for the first time will soon discover that the school believes in and seeks to manifest the friendly spirit. To all the students, whether old or new, we say in the good old fashioned way, you are heartily welcome, make yourself at home.

Beautiful Weather, Isn't It?

Let's talk about the weather. Yes, it's hot in some places; the thermometer registered 95 the other day. But did you notice the delightful stream of cool air flowing from the radiators of the Brimhall building?

It mattered not that there was a 95 temperature outside; inside the Brimhall building the temperature was right and comfortable. On the shady stream side of the upper campus beneath the splendid trees of the lower campus and in the first floor rooms of that same campus, the temperature is pleasant and conducive to study. —J. Conference

Dr. Frey will lecture to the general assembly on Tuesday on the subject, "What can Social Sciences and Teaching Social Sciences project to Teachers in Public Secondary and Elementary Schools."

In an interview Tuesday Dr. Lambert stressed the fact that the conference is aimed at the professional rather than at lectures alone. The round table discussions, panels and unusual reports of actual experimental work being done by Utah teachers will occupy most of the time, according to Dr. Lambert.

In addition to the activities of the conference itself, the university will present a general lecture for the public on June 20. Colgate Hall at 1:30 on Monday and Wednesday of the conference week. Dr. A. M. Harding of the University of Arkansas will speak on "Expanding the Horizons of the University" on Monday, and on Wednesday, James Nutall, president of Snow College, will speak on "Problems of the Junior Colleges in Utah."

University credit will be given to those who register for the conference and fulfill the requirements. Film Lectures Every Wednesday

As the first of a series of weekly exhibitions of visual instruction procedures, a lecture and demonstration will be given on Wednesday afternoon by Thomas Peterson, secretary of the Bureau of Visual Instruction of the university extension division.

Peterson said that the series will be given so that problems that have arisen during the past year may be answered. The large percentage of school teachers in the audience will be from Brigham Young university and the fact that the schools are the largest users of the aids, combine to make the series valuable.

Lectures will be given and visual teaching materials demonstrated each Wednesday at 2:30 in room 200 E.

Frosh Pens New Shorthand Record

Unique distinction of being the first student at B. Y. U. to reach the shorthand dictation speed of 125 words a minute has been won by M. A. Anderson of Richfield. It is announced by Harry W. Sundwall, instructor in office practice.

This record is exceedingly remarkable in view of the fact that Mr. Anderson is only a freshman student and this is his second year of class study in shorthand. Mr. Sundwall said, "Few students ever attain this speed without the aid of a teacher, and that required of candidates for court reporting."

The official test consisted of five minute dictation of Congressional bills and was given by Gregg Publishing Company, Chicago.

With less than half the permitted errors, the students transcription was virtually perfect, Mr. Sundwall said. Mr. Anderson had passed the test with 160 words per minute earlier this year.

Three commercial scholarships amounting to more than a year's tuition at the university, were won by Mr. Anderson, a former member of the high school basketball team in the B. Y. U. commercial contest a year ago. Mr. Sundwall, who was also the students instructor in high school, stated that Mr. Anderson will probably take his 200-word shorthand test soon.

Thursday's Dance Proves Popular

With last night's get-acquainted social in the Women's gymnasium, the summer school social calendar has been completed.

Last night's social was attended by a large representation of summer students, and many friends of the university. "Mixers" games proved effective in introducing new students.

Mr. C. J. Hart and Miss Leon Hobart directed the social activities of the evening. Miss Hobart was published by Curt Carter orchestra.

Another dancing party will be held in the Women's gym, Thursday, June 22. It will be informal, and new and old-time dances will be featured.

Double Concert

Rollin Pease, head of the department of music at the University of Arizona, presented two vocal recitals Wednesday as the first of a number of musical treats to be offered the summer school students in addition to the regular program.

A baritone, Mr. Pease was assisted by Elizabeth Dearing who accompanied him and also sang two groups, exhibiting an outstanding combination of voice and piano. Maxwell on Salt Lake City was the accompanist for Miss Dearing.

The evening program presented by Mr. Pease and his company was at 8 p. m. and drew such a large audience that it was necessary to add a second Wednesday. Both programs were interspersed with bits of philosophy about music and musicians by the host.

"Song is intensified speech—feel deeply enough and you are bound to sing," he declared in opening his noon recital. He said that he believed in singing about things that were real and rather than about vague unrealities.

During the afternoon Mr. Pease conducted a round table discussion with local musicians as well as students attending summer school.

B.Y.U. Pix Rates Saturday Eve Post

A picture of part of Brigham Young university's "trailer town" appears in the June 3 issue of the Saturday Evening Post in connection with an article on present-day college life.

Covering a half-page at the head of the article, the photograph shows two students studying on the sunny side of a trailer. It is accompanied by the following caption: "Brigham Young University's married students have set up housekeeping in a row of trailers. Here you see Mr. and Mrs. Roy F. Neubauer between textbooks and spring. Utah Agricultural college also boasts a large trailer colony of married students."

The trailer scene used in the magazine was snapped by Fred Marshall of Provo, student cameraman in the university photography department. Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Smith of the extension division from whom the article's author obtained information and pictures about living methods on the local campus.

Alumni

(Continued from page one) man from all parts of the continent to join this year's graduate class in the activities of the annual alumni day Tuesday, June 6. Among the 1000 guests attending were a number of from Canada and Mexico and from the east and west coasts, some of whom were Spencer Groom from Ontario, Canada; Mrs. John C. Young, New York City; Mrs. Lola Smith Melstrom of Washington, D. C.; Hazel Anderson, Terre Haute, Indiana; Mr. and Mrs. Rulon Paxman, Palm Alto, California.

Special anniversary reunions were held in connection with noon luncheons Tuesday. These included the classes of '34, '29, '24, '19, '14, and '09.

The annual alumni banquet was held at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday evening in the Heber J. Grant library. J. Clifton Moffitt, president of the association, was chairman of the event, also was Mr. Orval T. Tanner, Mrs. Flora D. Fisher and Mr. Gerrit J. Jong, Jr.

Booth and Pardoe Go East For Meet

Malcolm Booth and Bill Pardoe, stellar Brigham Young university tennis players, will leave for Haverford, Penn., where they will compete in the national collegiate tennis tournament, which will begin June 23. They will enter the doubles and singles.

Booth and Pardoe qualified for the meet by capturing the doubles championship in the intermountain qualifying round at B. Y. U. during the spring quarters.

At previous performances of Utah players in the eastern meet are indicative of what Booths and Pardoe will do, then these two netters are slated to go a long way. Last year, for example, Dick Benson and Fred D. Miller, both from the University of Utah in the tourney and captured third place in the meet, Booth and Pardoe are rated stronger this year than the Giles-Benson team.

The national tourney will come as a fitting close to a brilliant collegiate record on the part of these two stars. Under the coaching of Fred (Buck) Dixon, Booth and Pardoe captured the home meet and have been invincible in competition this year. They led the Young U tennis squad to a state championship, and they were co-captains of the squad during the final year. Both graduated this month.

Besides entering the national meet, the two Cougars will compete in the eastern collegiate meet.

Next year open tournaments and several others.

Booth and Pardoe qualified for the meet last year, but lack of funds kept them from entering. This year they are being entered by B. Y. U. and the Intermountain tennis association.

President Roy J. Murdoch, '04, and Dr. L. Wenzel Gallo, '14, all of Provo; Donald F. Lloyd, '20, and Salt Lake City was elected to fill the unexpired term of one year.

Returning to Provo for the first time in 10 years, Fred J. Neubauer, assistant director engineer of the Board of Transportation of New York City, was a visitor at Brigham Young university campus recently.

He observed the remarkable changes in Provo's streets, business buildings, and residential section. He also was impressed with the growth of the University of Utah, according to Dr. Earl Pardoe who conducted the visitor around them.

Presented with a 1939 Bayan, Mr. Neubauer admitted that it was the most attractive publication he had seen. "Even in my work with Grover Whalen of the New York World's Fair and other advertising men in the east, I have never seen anything like it."

Mr. Neubauer has returned to New York.

Roberts Gets Coach Job

Huntington high school of Wyoming will have a new coach from the Brigham Young university in Provo. Earl Pardoe, who, when Charlie Roberts, Cougar football and basketball star graduate of the class of 1939, signed the contract.

Roberts, a native of Lodi, is one of the most outstanding athletes ever to attend the Provo institution. A regular on the football eleven for three years, he alternated with Jack Christensen as halfback position. In the fair of ball Roberts became known throughout the Big Seven as the "Touchdown Twins".

His record in basketball is less brilliant although suffering a knee injury the year he kept him out of competition most of the season, Roberts was captain of the court squad this year though, and attended every practice session and game, though unable at times to don a suit.

Perhaps his greatest achievement came in his junior year at the university when he was co-captain of the Jimius M. Jackson scholarship, which is the highest award for outstanding junior athlete in the university. The award is based on both athletic participation and scholarship as determined by the athletic council and registrar of the university.

Although not of varsity caliber in other sports, he was a member of the intramural doubles tennis team which won the school championship in 1938, and was chosen this spring on the all-school intramural soft ball team.
